

Do not weaken the ability for states to have telemarketing laws stricter than the federal government telemarketing law. I do not want to see Wisconsin's law weakened. If I start getting more calls from telemarketers, I will likely cancel my telephone service, as many people I know have already done.

Between the unwanted spam/e-mail and telephone calls, the government did something right to allow people to opt out of telemarketing lists. at least that corrected 1/2 of the problem. (now if only something could also be done regarding the spam/e-mail) to step backwards by weakening the telemarketing law. if anything strengthen it.

Thank you,

John Morris, Shell Lake Wisconsin.
